TAKE-HOLD

Plant Starter Solution

A balanced preparation of nutrients immediately soluble in water. About ½ pint of the prepared solution used with each plant helps overcome transplanting shock and gets plants off to a quick start. One quarter pound makes 2½ gallons of solution. One pound makes 10 gallons of solution.

PLANTS TO GROW IN THE SHADE

Shade need not be a limiting factor for the growth of flowers if those tolerant of shade are planted. Adequate soil preparation, fertilization and early planting are even more important than under normal conditions. We have suggested here a few of the more successful ones for shade.

PERENNIALS

DAY LILIES — Hemerocallis

Many new and interesting varieties have been developed during the past few years. These easy to grow flowers are excellent for moist, shady places. Extremely hardy. All potted plants, each 50c

Success with Plants

Beautiful flowers and luscious vegetables begin with good plants, properly grown by us and nurtured by you until maturity. From the selection of our seed planting stock, through transplanting and final delivery to you, we spare no effort to supply you the best plants which can be grown. Ultimate success with them depends on some factors beyond our control. The soil in which they are set and the subsequent care they receive will determine to a large extent whether your flowers and vegetables will be of ordinary or superb quality.

Garden soils should be copiously supplied with organic matter, either from well rotted manure, Hyper Humus, peat moss or compost. They should be fortified additionally with garden fertilizer. Weeds should be kept under control, adequate moisture must be supplied. The common expression, "he or she has a green thumb," really means they are diligent gardeners.
